

how lean can change your organisation today

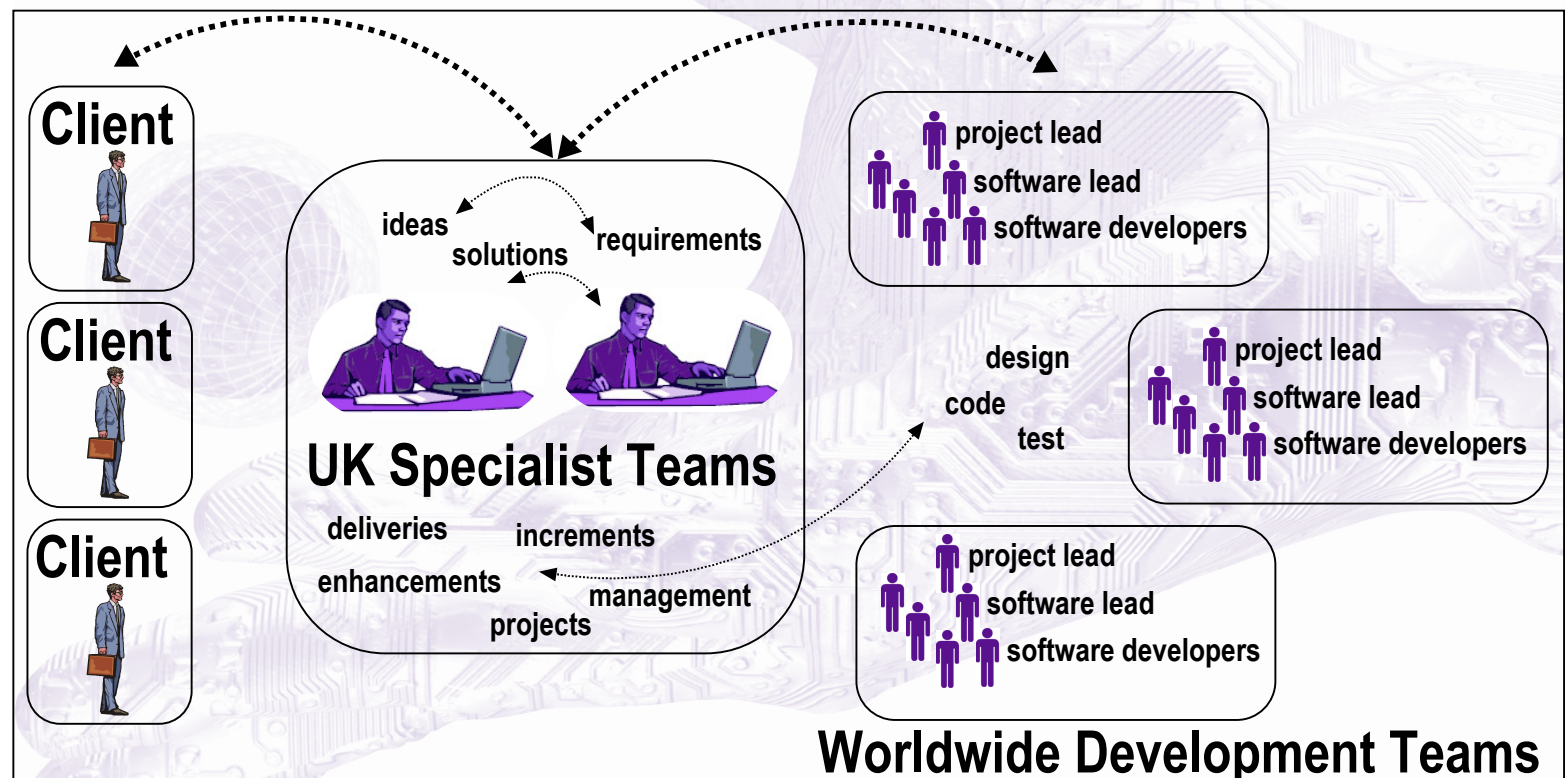

Suaju is a UK based Lean Management, Lean Software Development Company committed to the delivery of products and solutions at a cost-effective and reliable approach. Suaju achieves this through it's Lean UK Specialist and Global Development Teams. The UK Teams are the interface with the Clients and are responsible for the overall running of the projects, dealing with both technical and non-technical issues. The use of the Global Development Teams gives the Client reduced costs allowing a reduction in timescales and/or an increase in scope.

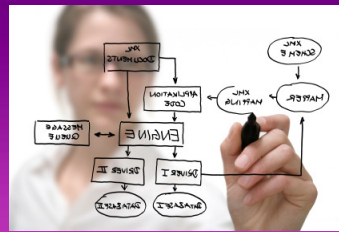

Suaju focuses predominately on bespoke software solutions or windows, web services, database systems, real-time/embedded programming using its own devised workflow.

Suaju can work with a customer's idea and take it to the end product/solution or just pick up from any stage in the life-cycle and progress it to the end.

Our development methodology combine the paramount aspects of leading software methodologies, following Iterative, Lean and Agile Practices and the Rational Unified Process (RUP) with a strong customer interface.

A Typical Workflow

An idea would be presented to Suaju's UK Team

The UK Team would agree the scope of work and timescales - SOW

The UK Team would work with the client to produce a set of requirements and architectural design, they would be the predominate interface between the client and the development teams

The final solution would be presented to the client

The development teams would go through an iterative design, code and test phases performing incremental deliveries if required

The UK Team would present the requirements (and architectural design) to the globally positioned development teams, (depending on nature of work, part of work could stay in the UK)
